Description

Who is Hiring?

I am currently working with a fast-growing Salesforce consultancy in the UK. They are a leading Salesforce solutions provider for non-profit organisations. My client takes pride in the fact that they receive new projects only via referrals. This is a great testimony of their quality and service.

They have a brilliant team of certified Salesforce consultants whose only mission is to offer cost-effective and high-quality Salesforce solutions for their clients. No wonder they have registered quite impressive sales growth in the last couple of years and the momentum is still continued quarter after quarter. They seek to hire an experienced and dynamic Salesforce Consultant for joining a team on a remote basis.

Your Profile

The candidate will also have some knowledge and experience in implementing Salesforce Community Portals and building complex workflow solutions using Salesforce's Process Builder.

The candidate will ideally have experience working in a consulting firm. He/she must demonstrate strong and effective communications skills, time management and organisation skills, and is able to work with minimal supervision. Any experience working with clients in the Not for Profit sector would be highly desirable.

Responsibilities

- Work on client projects to deliver CRM applications on Salesforce platform
- Conduct discovery and design workshops with clients
- Draft requirements and design specifications
- Configure Salesforce applications, including Community Portals
- Migrate data into Salesforce from other client and external systems
- Train client end-users and internal technical support functions

Requirements

- Strong ability to configure and customise utilising Lightning components
- Knowledge and experience in implementing Salesforce Community Portals and building complex workflow solutions using Salesforce's Process Builder
- Experience working in a consulting firm.
- Strong and effective communications skills, time management and organisation skills, and able to work with minimal supervision.
- Any experience working with clients in the Not for Profit sector would be highly desirable
